

Accomplishment Builder

An accomplishment is an action which resulted in a measurable and beneficial result. These are the items on your resume that will get you hired.

1. Job Scope

We recommend that each of your positions start with a job scope. This sets the context of how big the world was in which you accomplished your results. We start with an active, past tense verb and list the main 2-3 focuses of the role and its overall dimensions (e.g., territory, budget, staff, accounts, products, SKUs, P&L, or # of concurrent projects managed). We suggest developing a job scope and then including supporting bullet points that are accomplishment statements.

2. Accomplishment Statements

To develop accomplishment statements:

1. Start with a past-tense action verb
2. Briefly describe the action taken
3. State the results in measurable or quantifiable terms

Think money, time, and amounts. The more you focus on money, time and amounts in relation to your accomplishments, the better you'll present your successes and highlight your potential – and the more you'll realize just how much you really have to offer prospective employers.

When possible, lead with the result, creating a more powerful accomplishment statement. Resumes do not need to read as complete proper sentences. Eliminate personal pronouns (I, me, my, they, us, etc.), possessive pronouns (our, yours, etc.), and articles (the, a, an, etc.) when possible.

For each accomplishment, think “impact/result?” To help you answer this question, ask yourself: “What would have happened if I didn’t do this or didn’t do it well?” Usually within the answer is your impact.

Examples

Action: Designed and implemented a preventative maintenance program that...

Result: reduced equipment downtime by 20% and significantly increased order processing.

Not Leading with the Result: Designed and implemented a preventative maintenance program (what was done) that reduced equipment downtime by 20% and significantly increased order processing (measurable outcome).

Result: Saved $5,000 annually on office supplies by... +

Action: negotiating with outside supply company for best prices.

Leading with the Result: Saved $5,000 annually on office supplies (measurable outcome) by negotiating with outside supply company for best prices (what was done).
